Message from Mrs Parsons

This week, we remembered our wonderful school chef, Amanda. On Wednesday afternoon, the children took part in a variety of activities to remember her by. The children decorated cakes, wrote and drew memories of Amanda to create a memory book and decorated a pebble to go in a memory garden we are creating. Thank you to those parents who were able to join us to remember Amanda and raise money for Cancer Research and for her memorial bench at school. I will let you all know once the bench has been ordered and is in place at school. Amanda's memory book will be in the school entrance hall if you would like to see it.

All different, all equally valued

Matthew 6:28-29

"And why do you worry about clothes? See how the flowers of the field grow. They do not labour or spin. Yet I tell you that not even Solomon in all his splendor was dressed like one of these."

This week in worship, we thought about how we are all different, but equally loved by God. We looked at pictures of wild flowers and thought about how Jesus spoke about the flowers he saw in the field around him and how we can learn something from them. When we see the wild flowers, we see and marvel at the host of beautiful colours. We do not think to say, 'Oh, I see no yellow, I see no blue or pink, they are all the same!' We are jubilant because they are all so beautifully different, reminding us of our own uniqueness and ability to bring a smile to the face of those who love us.

We used the pictures of the flowers to think about difference and wanting to learn about it, from it and to celebrate it together. When we celebrate our differences as humans, we are showing how much we care about each other and how important it is to communicate with each other. Saying we cannot see difference would be like saying we can't see all the beautiful flowers. The whole meadow is made all the more beautiful by the variety.
